U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

RE: Comments - Docket ID No. EPA-HQ-OAR-2015-0072: Review of the National Ambient Air Quality Standards for Particulate Matter

Dear Administrator Wheeler:

On behalf of our families and communities, we urge you to set stronger limits on particle and ozone pollution. The current National Ambient Air Quality Standards for particulate matter and ozone are not sufficient to protect public health.

Ozone and particle pollution are dangerous, which is why strong, science-based national limits on these pollutants are critical to safeguarding Americans' health. The scientific research shows that the current limits on each pollutant are too weak. Anyone can suffer health harms from ozone and particulate matter, but millions of people face greater risk – including the more than 16.4 million adults with COPD and more than 24.8 million adults and 5.5 million children with asthma.

We call on you to strengthen the National Ambient Air Quality Standards for particulate matter and ozone. Please follow the science and set stronger limits that truly protect our families' and communities' health.

Sincerely,
