

Thank you for enrolling in the American Lung Association’s Virtual Home Assessment program!

What to Expect During a Virtual Home Assessment

On your scheduled date and time, a Lung Health Navigator will connect with you via your preferred contact method (video or phone call) to virtually walk through your home.

They may ask to see your kitchen, bedroom, bathroom, living room and other areas to assess for lung disease triggers like mold, dust, chemicals and more. Being able to visually see the living space will provide the Navigator with a better picture of potential issues that may impact your indoor air quality and worsen your lung disease symptoms.

They will also ask you a lot of questions about your home and your lung disease.

Questions That Might be Asked During Your Home Assessment

Have you been hospitalized due to your lung disease?	Do you have a fireplace or a woodstove?
What lung disease symptoms do you experience?	Does the home have carpet?
What medication do you use to control your symptoms?	Do you use air fresheners?

How to Prepare for Your Home Assessment

DO

- ✓ Write down notes or questions that you want to bring up during the visit.
- ✓ Make sure medication is accessible.
- ✓ Be honest when answering questions. It’s the best way for us to assist you.

DON'T

- ✗ Clean up beforehand. It’s helpful to see the home as it normally is.
- ✗ Worry if you don’t have answers to all the questions. Answer to the best of your ability.

Next steps: After your virtual home assessment, the Lung Health Navigator will follow-up with an action plan of steps to take to reduce lung disease triggers, indoor air pollution and lung disease resources, and opportunities for FREE supplies and services to improve your home’s air quality.
